Flint Man Charged in an Attempted Abduction of Two Girls

Flint - Genesee County Prosecutor David Leyton has charged a 46-year old Flint man with three felonies in the attempted abduction of two young girls in Montrose Township.

Denver Lawrence Edgley is charged with attempted kidnapping, aggravated indecent exposure, and accosting children for immoral purposes. If convicted, Edgley faces up to life in prison. The Montrose Township police investigation alleges Edgely, while naked, jumped from his car and attempted to accost the two girls while they were riding bikes. The girls fought off Edgley and ran away later alerting authorities.

Information provided by the Michigan State Police about the car Edgley was driving led police to a house where he was arrested. The Genesee County Sheriff's Department assisted in the arrest.

"The Montrose Township Police did an excellent job identifying the suspect. We will present additional evidence in court," said Prosecutor Leyton.

Edgley is being held in the county jail.
