Location: Media Café, Halifax HS/MS Complex, 3940 Peters Mountain Road, Halifax, PA  17032

Many people live with the disease of addiction, but do not necessarily understand the basis of addiction in the brain. Equally important are strategies for supporting healing of the brain in recovery. Participants learn skills to explain brain functioning during addiction and recovery to individuals and family members to help them understand behaviors during addiction and activities that support recovery.

Trauma Concerns and the Recovery Process

Melissa Groden, Trainer

Time: Friday, April 17, 2020  1:00—4:00 PM  |  PCB Credits: 3
Location: Media Café, Halifax HS/MS Complex, 3940 Peters Mountain Road, Halifax, PA  17032

Many people have faced a history of trauma and resulting psychological, emotional, physical, and spiritual impacts. This is particularly true of individuals with Substance Use Disorders in that the use of substances can be a reaction to trauma, and can also put one at higher risk for additional trauma. This session defines how trauma can impact the recovery process. It aims to make participants trauma informed, and includes a discussion of avoiding vicarious trauma.
