Executive Summary

In 2018, the Wisconsin State Legislature approved new legislation which requires Cities and Villages of 10,000 population or more to provide two separate annual reports related to housing and housing fees in an effort to shed light and foster change on affordable housing issues across the state. Specifically, this document meets the requirements for Wis. Stats. 66.10013 (Housing Affordability report). While Greenville was still a Town in 2020 it did not meet the requirements of Wis. Stats. 66.10014 and did not need to complete or post a copy of the fee report on its website, it has however decided to participate in anticipation of becoming a Village. On November 3, 2020 the incorporation referendum passed and fully incorporated into a Village in 2021.

Housing Affordability Reporting Requirements

Requirements of this report include the following elements:

- (1) In this section, "municipality" means a city or village with a population of 10,000 or more.
- (2) Not later than January 1, 2020, a municipality shall prepare a report of the municipality's implementation of the housing element of the municipality's comprehensive plan under s. 66.1001. The municipality shall update the report annually, not later than January 31. The report shall contain all of the following:
  - a. The number of subdivision plats, certified survey maps, condominium plats, and building permit applications approved in the prior year.
  - b. The total number of new residential dwelling units proposed in all subdivision plats, certified survey maps, condominium plats, and building permit applications that were approved by the municipality in the prior year.
  - c. A list and map of undeveloped parcels in the municipality that are zoned for residential development.
  - d. A list of all undeveloped parcels in the municipality that are suitable for, but not zoned for, residential development, including vacant sites and sites that have potential for redevelopment, and a description of the zoning requirements and availability of public facilities and services for each property.
  - e. An analysis of the municipality's residential development regulations, such as land use controls, site improvement requirements, fees and land dedication requirements, and permit procedures. The analysis shall calculate the financial impact that each regulation has on the cost of each new subdivision. The analysis shall identify ways in which the municipality can modify its construction and development regulations, lot sizes, approval processes, and related fees. to do each of the following:
    - (1) Meet existing and forecasted housing demand, and;
    - (2) Reduce the time and cost necessary to approve and develop a new residential subdivision in the municipality by 20 percent.

Housing Affordability Data and Responses

Number of Development Approvals

Part 2A: The number of subdivision plats, certified survey maps, condominium plats, and building permit applications approved in the prior year (2021) for Greenville is illustrated in Table 1.

Undeveloped Parcels Zoned for Residential Development

Parts 2C/2D: A list and map of undeveloped parcels in the municipality that are zoned for residential development. A list of all undeveloped parcels in the municipality that are suitable for, but not zoned for, residential development, including vacant sites and sites that have potential for redevelopment, and a description of the zoning requirements and availability of public facilities and services for each property.

Maps for Greenville were developed using a variety of GIS data sources. From a process standpoint, these maps were developed using the following methodologies:

1. Map 1 was created by using current tax parcel data. A subset of “vacant” parcels was created by selecting all parcels which had no “improvement value” on the property.
2. Current zoning districts were overlain on this subset of vacant parcels and additional parcels were removed as necessary (i.e. stormwater ponds, larger areas of institutional lands which have no development potential, etc.).
3. The final map illustrates vacant parcels that contain “residential” zoning and those that are “non-residential” (i.e. commercial, industrial, institutional, etc.) in nature.
4. Table 3 was created which provides the listing of parcels along with additional property characteristics.

Undeveloped Parcels with Available Public Facilities/Services

Map 2 was created using the aforementioned data layers, plus the inclusion of municipal water and sewer line location data.

1. Municipal sewer and water line data was obtained, typically with service lines being located in the road rights-of-way.
2. A 100-foot ‘buffer’ was applied to either side of these service lines.
3. Any of the vacant residential/non-residential zoned parcels which fell partly within this 100-foot buffer were selected to produce a map showing which undeveloped parcels have services available.

Plans & Regulations

Part 2E: An analysis of the municipality’s residential development regulations, such as land use controls, site improvement requirements, fees and land dedication requirements, and permit procedures. The analysis shall calculate the financial impact that each regulation has on the cost of each new subdivision. The analysis shall identify ways in which the municipality can modify its construction and development regulations, lot sizes, approval processes, and related fees to: 1) Meet existing and forecasted housing demand, and; 2) Reduce the time and cost necessary to approve and develop a new residential subdivision in the municipality by 20 percent.

Greenville has a number of plans, policies, regulations and fee/permit requirements which guide land use and matters pertaining to residential housing development.

Greenville's comprehensive plan, adopted in 2019, and includes a future land use map, illustrates the preferred land use and sets forth the broad policy decisions regarding the location and types of housing that are envisioned in the future. This document is of primary importance in that it sets the tone for addressing affordable housing opportunities and guiding development decisions (Map 3). This plan addresses many aspects of housing, including affordable housing and key aspects of the plan are shown in Table 5.

Additional plans, policies and regulations have been adopted by Greenville to address residential housing including:

- Greenville Zoning Ordinance (Chapter 320) outlines basic land use requirements, lot sizes and property setbacks.
- Greenville Subdivision Control Ordinance (Chapter 270) which specifies site improvement requirements and land dedication requirements, if any.
- Greenville Building Construction (Chapter 85) provides certain standards and requirements for buildings.

- Plan Review & Building Permit procedures have been adopted and are reviewed periodically.
- Fees have been adopted for various activities related to housing development. These fees are outlined in detail in the accompanying Housing Fee Report. Greenville currently has several types of fees schedules published on its website which may apply to new housing development<sup>1</sup>:

Financial Impact of Plans & Regulations

The financial impacts of local regulations are outlined in the Greenville Housing Fee Report (2021). Regulations enforced by federal and state government also contributed to the increase in costs for development, yet municipalities have no control over these regulations or the associated costs to enforce. Wisconsin has adopted a state-wide uniform building code, which establishes standards for residential dwelling units. In addition, the requirements of NR216 have substantially increased the cost of stormwater management. Under NR216, municipalities are required to reduce stormwater runoff by implementing stormwater management programs. These programs include construction site pollutant control, post-construction stormwater management, etc. Furthermore, restrictive covenants imposed by developers may also add cost to development by setting architectural guidelines, types of exterior building materials, structural design or dictating the size of a dwelling unit.

Modification of Construction & Development Regulations

This analysis identifies ways in which the municipality can modify its construction and development regulations, lot sizes, approval processes, and related fees in order to do each of the following: (1) Meet existing and forecasted housing demand, and; (2) Reduce the time and cost necessary to approve and develop a new residential subdivision in the municipality by 20 percent.

Housing demand for Greenville has been calculated using accepted methodologies developed by the East Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission. In this case, two components were evaluated: a) forecasted housing and land use demands by unit type, and; b) existing housing cost burden.

Based on Wisconsin Department of Administration and U.S. Census data, Tables 6 and 7 illustrate the forecast household growth for Greenville and the corresponding demands by housing unit type using existing land use density information.

Table 8 illustrates the current “Housing Cost Burden” for Greenville households. For any particular household income category, the corresponding number which spent 30% or more of their income on housing costs is shown. In general, those with lower incomes are more burdened. However it is interesting to note Greenville's numbers indicate that homeowners and renter overall are less cost burdened than the urbanized area average as a whole.

Based on this information more affordable homes and rentals are needed within the Village, particularly for those with lower incomes. However, providing affordable housing involves more than reducing costs imposed by municipalities or revising local policies. Policies imposed by others and limited funding also affect housing affordability. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development provides housing choice vouchers for very low-income families to reduce the cost of housing. Yet, this program has not been expanded in years and does not supply a sufficient supply of vouchers to address housing affordability for renters. Other programs correspondingly provide assistance for low-income renters and homeowners but these programs likewise fall short of the needs. Banks and other financial institutions must also accept some of the responsibility since they must approve financing for affordable housing.

Time and Cost Reductions

In order to reduce the time and cost necessary to approve and develop a new residential subdivision in the municipality by 20 percent, a number of things need to be taken into consideration.

- 1) Where exactly this burden should be placed? Should this burden be placed on the public sector entirely? Or should the private sector (homebuilders, realty professionals, etc.) share some of this burden? Housing style, design, size and materials choice make up a large portion of the cost of housing. When the development community places restrictive covenants on subdivisions, this inherently increases the costs for housing.

- 2) The cost of infrastructure and maintenance was not part of the State's requirement to analyze and include in this report yet is a critical factor for the costs associated with new housing development. Furthermore, state imposed levy limits further impact the municipalities' ability to maintain or construct new infrastructure.
- 3) Lastly, as noted in the Housing Fee Report, a number of additional costs are imposed by County, State or local entities (sanitary districts) for things such as plumbing plan reviews, utility assessments and the like. These items are not even considered in the statutory requirements for this report and not in the purview of the municipality to control.

Greenville could, of course, simply slash the costs of its various permits and fees by 20%, thereby reducing the amount of revenue generated (see Housing Fee Report). This revenue is used by the Village to fund the necessary services and safety inspections that are required by State law and/or are simply good practice. By cutting fees 20%, it is likely that the plan review, approval and permit issuance processes will take longer due to reduced staffing and capacity.

The Village could also reduce minimum lot sizes, but would this actually encourage smaller more affordable houses? Reducing parking requirements and street width could potentially reduce the cost to build and maintain infrastructure, making housing more affordable. The added benefit is that this would not only reduce infrastructure costs but would also reduce stormwater runoff from impervious surfaces. While the Village could make a number of changes, ultimately it is whether or not the development community takes advantage of changes in order to create more affordable homes. Taking this a step further, new models of housing development such as Cottage-Style developments or Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs), or new public-private financing partnerships could be looked at as a way to further reduce housing costs. Partnerships with non-profit organizations such as Habitat for Humanity have also proven successful.

Reductions in time could reduce costs; however, developers and the state also play a role in the process (cost) to approve a new residential subdivision. For example an incomplete application will necessitate additional time by the developer to submit further information. Plats must be approved following state statute 236, which clearly sets out procedures which must be followed by an entity approving a plat.

Greenville's policy is development pays for itself; the general tax payer should not be responsible for the development of a subdivision or permit costs for an individual lot. The fees have been established to cover the cost of doing development/business.

In 2017 Greenville hired a new Administrator. In 2018 Greenville hired its first Community and Economic Development Director and Public Works Director.
