Training Dollars

We may be able to assist in deferring a portion of the cost of training new employees or help with the cost of upgrading the skills of your current workforce.

These On-the-Job Training (OJT) initiatives are designed to help your company screen, interview, train and/or upgrade employees.

This training occurs at the employer's workplace where the trainees learn occupational skills in a new field or upgrade their skills in their current field while earning a paycheck.

Screening and Recruiting

Our Business Services Representatives can help you screen and recruit employees. We can help with job postings and job matching, taking into account the skills, education and experience you need in your workforce.

We also offer the use of our facilities for your business to hold recruitments and interviews. Our business services representatives will coordinate all that is required for a successful hiring event/interview session.

Recruitment events and job postings can be shared on OCWNY's social media accounts to increase exposure.

Information and Referral
